BIOLEA

Crete, Greece

SENSORY PROFILE

Nerantzio is not an infused oil. Koroneiki olives harvested from the Astrikas estate groves are stone milled and cold pressed with locally grown bitter oranges. This fabulous oil explodes with an unmistakable punch full of orange blossoms and a teasing tingle of orange rind.

Biolea oils are divine dipping oils. They can be drizzled on seafood, grilled lamb and fresh vegetables. Or, Nerantzio can be used to create wonderful orange based dressing or marinade.

Olive Varietals: Koroneiki

TRADITION

Biolea is a fifth generation family owned company based in Astrikas, Kolymbari, in the Chania Prefecture in northwestern Crete, Greece.

The company is based on principles of self-reliance, innovation and environmental consciousness. Their mission is to support and preserve tradition and promote sustainability on the island of Crete. They are currently involved in a project that uses extracted olive pomace as fuel to drive a steam power generator to provide them with electrical power.
