SENSORY PROFILE

This spread is made with two varieties of olives that are native to Tunisia. The Sahli black olives and a small percentage of Meski green olives are pitted and crushed together to form a fine paste. This paste is mixed with extra virgin olive oil to produce a rich and intense spread that can be used as an hors d'oeuvre or on a sandwich with fresh tomatoes and cheese. As with all of the Mahjoub products, this is produced using traditional farming methods with no additives or artificial processes. This product is organic.

TRADITION

The Mahjoub family farms the soil in the lush Mejerda Valley of Tunisia, located on the southern shores of the Mediterranean. It is here that they produce handcrafted products under the Les Moulins Mahjoub label and are known for their steadfast commitment to artisan standards and sustainable farming. The Mahjoub family is recognized in the culinary world as one of the premier producers of extra virgin olive oils, table olives, and condiments.
